Springfield Swamps C-ville Squad, 73-6

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

Circleville's grid machine cracked at the seams last night at Springfield North.

The host team buried the Tigers under an avalanche score of 73-6 in a game which saw the Clark Countians tally almost at will after the first quarter. Circleville's usually reliable defense folded.

Springfield North, celebrating Homecoming and striving to protect its undefeated record in its first year of football, shattered everything the Tigers threw in front of them. The hosts, not a big team, had plenty of speed which paid handsome dividends. Their backs ran with uncanny ability and their downfield blocking was near perfect.

In the first quarter it appeared the game would be a defensive struggle as neither team was able to move for any kind of a sustained drive. However, Springfield recovered a Circleville fumble on the CHS 29 late in the first quarter to set the stage for a caving Tiger roof.

PASS interference was called on Circleville on the 17 and five plays later Fullback Vernon Shoemaker crossed the goal line from five yards out. The run for points was stopped.

Taking their cue on the first score, the speedy Springfield backfield then unleashed the most devastating of attacks. Maybe the huge Evans Stadium and the large Homecoming crowd had something to do with it — the Tigers just couldn't stop the Panthers after the second quarter started.

The hosts' second touchdown came on a drive which covered 76 yards in 14 plays. Halfback John Perymon went the last four yards. The run for extras was no good.

Perhaps the killing blow came about two minutes later when Springfield Quarterback Rolie Schultz grabbed a CHS punt on his own 45 and threaded the distance between numerous Tiger tacklers for the third touchdown. David Jones' conversion kick was short, but the score rocketed to 18-0.

Circleville, trying desperately to get something started, then made its only first half penetration into Springfield territory and picked up its initial first down when Harold Dade spun loose for 15 yards to the CHS 44. On the next play Bob Waple passed to Jake Bailey for 18 yards to the North 38.

However, the drive stalled and Springfield took over with its touchdown express. Larry Jeffrey found a hole for 21 yards and Perymon followed with 13. On a fourth down and nine situation Schultz bootlegged to his left and went 21 yards for the fourth TD. Jones' kick was good and the count mounted to 25-0.

WITH KENNEDY IN PENNSYLVANIA (AP)—In a sharp change of scenery but not of pace, Sen. John F. Kennedy carried his presidential campaign in Pennsylvania today to Philadelphia's suburbs.

He started off in the wee morning hours with a speech to a $25-dollar-a-plate dinner under a tent on a muddy rain-drenched golf course.

Kennedy hit hard on unemployment, the problem of economically depressed areas, and the plight of the Iron Curtain countries.

Kennedy landed in a downpour at Philadelphia International Airport, then drove 20 miles to the Aronimink Country Club to keep a date for which he was nearly five hours late.

It was nearly 2 a.m. then, and Kennedy noted he had started out at eight o'clock Friday morning — 18 hours earlier.

President Eisenhower came to Philadelphia several hours ahead of Kennedy, and in his first major political speech of the campaign, plugged for the election of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He called Nixon the best qualified man to be the next president and took some sharp jibes at Kennedy without mentioning him by name.

Kennedy, however, could look back with elation on a day of campaigning in northeastern areas of Pennsylvania suffering chronic economic ills and heavy unemployment.

In a day and night motorcade through steel and coal mining communities he was all but overwhelmed by huge crowds that stormed around for a chance to shake his hand.

By the time he reached Scranton Friday night he had a bruised, swollen and slightly scratched right hand that attested, as he said, that coal miners "really know how to shake hands."

Kennedy lagged behind schedule on his motorcade as dense crowds slowed his caravan. Just to cover the 17 miles from Wilkes-Barre to Scranton took 2 1/2 hours.

Gov. David L. Lawrence, traveling with Kennedy, said there never had been anything like it in the state's history — not even in the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

400 Attend Open House

Logan Elm HS Holds First Open House

The Logan Elm School District proudly presented its first open house of the newly constructed and furnished Logan Elm High School last night.

Over 400 persons including faculty, board members, students, and their families and friends attended the official open house.

The evening's program began at 7:30 p. m. in the magnificent gymnasium - auditorium with the Rev. Earl C. Bowser, pastor of the Tarlton Methodist Church, giving the invocation.

Dr. Wells Wilson, Route 1, president of the Logan Elm board of Education, gave a brief welcome address and congratulatory message to the many persons who made the evening's event possible.

Entertainment for the program was provided by Logan Elm talent. Miss Sharon Sharrett, high school senior, appropriately sang "Bless this House". For an encore Miss Sharrett sang Jerome Kern's "The Way You Look Tonight", accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Carl Hohenstein.

Executive Head Carl S. Burger introduced the main speaker of the program, George D. McDowell, county superintendent of schools.

Superintendent McDowell commended the people of the Logan Elm School District for providing such outstanding educational facilities for the high school girls and boys of that district.

An introduction of the teaching staff by John Henn, principal, closed the program.

Members of the student body provided guided tours of the building for the eager crowd. The teaching staff was stationed at their individual classrooms for questions that the guests may have had.

One of the more fascinating classrooms that created a lot of discussion was the chemistry lab. Mrs. Robert Mills, chemistry teacher, was more than happy to explain the lab apparatus. Particularly the geiger counter and the radio - active material.

Many laudatory remarks could be heard throughout the halls of the school as the crowds wandered from room to room.

The official dedication of the building and grounds will be held sometime after the first of year, according to Dr. Wells Wilson.

Firman Mysteriously Shifted to Workhouse

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Gordon (Spunky) Firman, 21, awaiting trial on kidnap charges, has been shifted to the Cincinnati Workhouse. Sheriff Paul Pell reported the action Friday but gave no reason. Pell said Firman, of Steubenville, will be returned to Butler County Jail when he goes on trial on charges he forced four teenagers at gunpoint to drive him away from Hamilton last Aug. 16.

Marine Visit to Cuba To Set Off Castro Howl

MAKE A CHOICE — Circleville citizens today were marking ballots for their favorite candidates in the second Herald street corner straw vote. Balloting was to continue until 2 p.m. The Herald conducted a similar poll seven weeks ago. It will be interesting to see if local voters have changed their minds as a result of the presidential campaign. The results will be in Monday's paper.

Dick Shows New Confidence After Big Boost from Ike

WITH NIXON IN ILLINOIS (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon rolled his presidential campaign into Chicago's suburbs today with a glowing endorsement from President Eisenhower.

The Republican presidential nominee made it clear he believes the send-off the President gave him in a nationally televised appearance in Philadelphia Friday night put his campaign in high gear at a particularly critical time.

Herbert G. Klein, the vice president's press secretary, said Nixon was "exhilarated" by Eisenhower's praise of the Republican nominee and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge.

But more important politically, Klein said, was what the press secretary described as Eisenhower's devastating criticisms of Nixon's democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon's supporters also were particularly pleased that the President had urged his listeners not to pay too much attention to party labels.

The vice president has been sounding this note in areas such as the shopping center circuit on which he was billed for appearances after a morning rally at the Quad City Airport near Rock Island, Ill.

Aides said Nixon hoped to stir up in the suburbs the kind of Republican and independent support he needs to offset an expected large Democratic majority in Chicago.

Nixon told a cheering partisan audience of about 4,000 persons who jammed the rafters of the Davenport, Iowa, Masonic Temple Friday night he is convinced the tide is running his way in the presidential contest. He described his whistle-stopping tour across Illinois as "one of the most exciting days of campaigning" he had seen.

He said that in the key states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa the "tide is running strong and Democrats by the thousands are joining with us to support our ticket."

Ugly Critter Told To Talk Or Else

PENSHAW, England (AP)—There's an ugly critter in this town who has only this weekend to talk—or else.

He has kept his mouth shut now for four weeks.

The Durham County police say the third degree might help but they are holding off because the courts have decided to take up the case on Monday.

The only thing that can stop court action now is an open confession. If the critter opens his mouth and says just one cuss word, he's Mac. If he says something polite, he's not a he at all but a she by the name of Jezebel.

A tape recorder has been waiting for a month for the first squawk out of the critter.

The court is going to rule if the critter is Mac, a broken-beaked parrot owned by Isabella Morrison, or Jezebel, an equally broken-beaked parrot claimed by Margaret Pretty.

The bird was found at a seaside resort, an escapee. Mrs. Morrison took him as her Mac and Mrs. Pretty sued.

"Anybody can see it's my Mac," said Mrs. Morrison as she set up a tape recorder to prove her case. "His language is foul, he'd make a Marine sergeant turn pale."

The weeks went by. Not so much as an "Oh, fudge" out of Mac.

"See," said Mrs. Pretty. "It's not Mac at all but my Jezebel, who doesn't talk like that."

"There's still time," said Mrs. Morrison.

"It's very involved," said a police officer. "We only hope he'll talk before Oct. 31 when the case comes up in Durham County Court. Maybe the third degree would help."

Gamblers Rate Kennedy 11-5 Choice in Ohio

New Charge Of 'Invasion' Is Expected

1,450 Leathernecks Due To Spend Liberty At Guantanamo Base

HAVANA (AP)—The arrival of a contingent of U.S. Marines at Guantanamo naval base today for the weekend was expected to launch Prime Minister Fidel Castro into a new round of charges that the United States is grooming an invasion force.

Cuban officials showed great interest in the announcement from Washington that 1,450 Marines on maneuvers in the Caribbean will land at the U.S. naval base at the east end of Cuba for a few days of rest and recreation.

Cuban officials did not comment. Castro was to make a nationwide television speech today, the time of which was indefinite.

The Washington announcement coincided with other developments in plummeting U.S.-Cuban relations.

The government-controlled press in war-type banner lines said the 300 Marines already at Guantanamo were polishing up their training with realistic combat exercises. A Marine has been killed and three have been injured by mines planted along the prime of the base, these reports said.

Cuban authorities at Santiago, near Guantanamo, were said to be concerned that the United States was preparing a fake attack against the big naval installation as pretext for armed aggression against Cuba.

The U.S. State Department asked a special six-nation committee of the Organization of American States to investigate its charges that thousands of tons of Soviet bloc arms have been shipped to Cuba along with Communist technicians to train Cubans in their use. The committee was set up last August to look into U.S.-Cuba disputes.

Sources in Havana said they had information that Cuba has imported more than 22,000 tons of arms and munitions from Iron Curtain countries since Aug. 1. Knocked-down aircraft — either helicopters or jet fighters — were reported among shipments unloaded at out-of-the-way ports.

The United Nations announced that the full General Assembly would meet Monday to hear a new appeal by Cuba for a quick hearing on its charges that the United States plans a grand-scale invasion.

In Moscow Tass issued an account of an interview premier Khrushchev gave Cuban newsmen in which the Soviet news agency quoted the premier as saying his promise of rocket support to Cuba in event of American aggression "should be considered symbolic."

Earlier, Revolution, the Castro organ, had said Khrushchev was asked if Soviet rockets were ready to assist Cuba in case of need and quoted him as answering: "Unquestionably. But it's better that there be no aggression, as we will do everything possible to avoid using our rockets."

Tass further quoted Khrushchev: "It is essential that the imperialist threat of intervention against Cuba should not materialize into military operations and then there will be no need to confirm the reality of our statement about armed assistance to the people of Cuba against aggression."

Some Americans in Moscow were reported believing Khrushchev had pulled the rug slightly from under Castro who has been boasting about the earlier promise of rocket aid.

U.N. Soldiers Ordered To Fire Against Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—United Nations military units in the Congo have been given orders to fire at rebellious Congolese troops resisting their authority.

U. N. officers said today the order specified that any opposition to U. N. efforts to maintain law and order will be considered an act of aggression.

In the past, United Nations anding orders permitted the use of arms only in self-defense.

U.N. May Hear Cuban Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuba is expected to sound new invasion alarms Monday when the General Assembly acts on the recommendation to dump her charges against the United States into the lap of the Political Committee.

The Cuban delegation has warned it will put up a stiff battle to reverse the decision of the Steering Committee and insist that its Soviet-backed complaint be carried directly to the assembly floor.

Diplomats predicted the Cubans would make an issue out of the U.S. announcement that 1,450 Marines would go ashore for "rest and recreation" at the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo this weekend. The Marines are with an amphibious group training in the Caribbean. Cuba was expected to denounce the move as a U.S. show of strength.

In an appeal to the Steering Committee Tuesday for urgent assembly consideration of the aggression charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa claimed that the United States planned a "manufactured provocation" at Guantanamo to influence the U.S. presidential election.

The United States denounced the Cuban charges as a "monstrous fabrication."

Despite Roa's emotion-packed demand, the 21-nation steering group voted 12-3 with 5 abstentions to send the Cuban complaint first to the 99-nation Political Committee where the United States insisted it belonged.

The Soviet Union, Romania, Bulgaria, the three Communist members of the committee, cast the only negative ballots.

With its already loaded work schedule, the Political Committee probably would place the Cuban charge at the bottom of its agenda — thus delaying debate for about a month. The Cubans, backed by Soviet bloc nations, wanted the alleged invasion threat to get quick attention.

Some diplomats speculated that Cuba might seek a Security Council meeting if its fails in its demand to set immediate assembly action.

Stork Sure Busy Around This Farm

LENOIR, N. C. (AP)—Things were pretty hectic around the Larry Thomas Smith Farm.

Wednesday, Smith was up most of the night with a brood sow. Early the next day a setting hen came off the nest with some newly hatched chicks, and Smith took his dog to the veterinarian to deliver her pups.

Thursday Smith rushed his wife to a hospital where he gave birth to an 8-pound daughter.

Smith didn't stay at the hospital long. He had to hustle back to the farm. It was calving time for his cow.

Dr. Spock, DiSalle Beat Drums for Kennedy Cause

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle told a rally for Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, here Friday night that President Eisenhower has stopped communism "just short of Miami Beach."

He made the apparent reference to the Communist-tinged Castro regime in Cuba in recalling Eisenhower's campaign promises in 1952 and 1956 to check the spread of Communism.

The governor said that when Sen. Kennedy speaks on the same subject he is accused of being too critical of the administration and thereby "unpatriotic."

Dr. Benjamin Spock, renowned child specialist, also spoke. He said he was for Kennedy chiefly because he favors federal aid to education and old-age medical insurance.

He warned his audience not to be frightened by "bogeyman words like socialized medicine." He said the Blue Cross system was once termed socialized medicine.

He started off in the wee morn-

Kennedy hit hard on unemployment, the problem of economically depressed areas, and the plight of the Iron Curtain countries.

Ohio Draft Chief Dies At Age 62

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Col. Harold L. Hays, who sent thousands of young Ohio men into the Army as the state's selective service director, died late Friday of a heart condition. He was 62.

Hays was the second selective service director in Ohio. He took the job in March 1955, replacing Col. C. W. Goble, the first director.

Hays was stricken Thursday night at his suburban Upper Arlington home. Friday morning he was taken to nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital where he died.

He had just returned from Ohio's 37th Division National Guard convention in Hawaii a week ago. During the Korean War, he had been chief of staff of the 37th.

The state's draft chief also served in the Pacific with the division in World War II, as well as having seen service in World War I.

Before heading up selective service, Hays was superintendent of Boys Industrial School at Lancaster for a year. He became well known for the progressive policies he initiated to help rehabilitate wayward youths at the institution.

After he left BIS, he still spent much of his time in youth rehabilitation work.

Hays was born near Washington Court House and was a life-long resident of central Ohio.

He leaves his widow, Susan; a son, Harold L. Hays Jr., of Upper Arlington; a daughter, Mrs. Michael Vance, Glendale, Calif.; two brothers and a sister.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the State Street chapel of Schoedinger's Funeral Home here, with burial tentatively set for Union Cemetery.

U.N. Soldiers Ordered To Fire against Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—United Nations military units in the Congo have been given orders to fire at rebellious Congolese troops resisting their authority.

U. N. officers said today the order specified that any opposition to U. N. efforts to maintain law and order will be considered an act of aggression.

In the past, United Nations firing orders permitted the use of arms only in self-defense.

U.N. May Hear Cuban Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuba is expected to sound new invasion alarms Monday when the General Assembly acts on the recommendation to dump her charges against the United States into the lap of the Political Committee.

The Cuban delegation has warned it will put up a stiff battle to reverse the decision of the Steering Committee and insist that its Soviet-backed complaint be carried directly to the assembly floor.

Diplomats predicted the Cubans would make an issue out of the U.S. announcement that 1,450 Marines would go ashore for "rest and recreation" at the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo this weekend. The Marines are with an amphibious group training in the Caribbean. Cuba was expected to denounce the move as a U.S. show of strength.

In an appeal to the Steering Committee Tuesday for urgent assembly consideration of the aggression charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa claimed that the United States planned a "manufactured provocation" at Guantanamo to influence the U.S. presidential election.

The United States denounced the Cuban charges as a "monstrous fabrication."

Despite Roa's emotion-packed demand, the 21-nation steering group voted 12-3 with 5 abstentions to send the Cuban complaint first to the 99-nation Political Committee where the United States insisted it belonged.

The Soviet Union, Romania, Bulgaria, the three Communist members of the committee, cast the only negative ballots.

With its already loaded work schedule, the Political Committee probably would place the Cuban charge at the bottom of its agenda — thus delaying debate for about a month. The Cubans, backed by Soviet bloc nations, wanted the alleged invasion threat to get quick attention.

Some diplomats speculated that Cuba might seek a Security Council meeting if its fails in its demand to set immediate assembly action.

NEW YORK (AP)—Economic conditions good, bad or just so-so? That question boiled through business and politics this week with widespread disagreement.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's contention that the economy is strong was disputed by Sen. John F. Kennedy with the statement that it is slipping into a recession.

The chairman of the President's Council of Economic advisers, Raymond J. Saulnier, said the economy "is in a good position to make another advance. . . and I don't think we are going to wait too long."

Dr. John L. Terner, Harvard professor of business administration, asserted that "a recession of substantial proportions is in the making."

The stock market, discouraged by the business outlook, hit a two-year low Tuesday and then staged a snappy rally.

Stock sales this week totaled 15,862,940 shares. Compared with 12,932,430 the previous week. Bond volume on the New York Stock exchange, compared with $21,604,000 the week before.

While the stock market's recovery was due partly to technical factors, a spate of better sentiment.

These included Federal Reserve Board action to expand the lending power of banks; a cut in the British bank rate, which it was hoped would help keep American investment funds at sales, and a good rate of freight carloadings.

Steel production this week was not encouraging. Output was estimated at 53.2 per cent of capacity, down from 55.4 last week.

The drop came at a time when production normally rises, making it plain that users still haven't reached the bottom of inventory barrels.

Auto productions kept humming with an estimated output of 148,856 passenger cars, up 1.6 per cent from the 146,571 last week and 101,786 a year ago.

Sales for the first two-thirds of October totaled 352,000 cars, compared with 338,000 in the like period of October 1959, when a record of 527,000 was set for the entire month.

The Commerce Department reported that new orders received by manufacturers in September rose for the second straight month to a seasonally adjusted $30.4 billion from $30 billion in August.

Business suffered another blow from Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba when 167 American-owned companies were nationalized. The firms were valued at nearly $250 million.

Retail trade increased appreciably over last week and moderately over a year ago, helped by cold weather in many areas and extensive sales promotions. Shoppers' interest centered on apparel, furniture, food products and new passenger cars.

The cost of living rose to an all-time high, advancing tenths of one per cent in September. This put the Department of Labor's living cost index at 126.8 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. The department said another rise can be expected this month.

400 Attend Open House

Logan Elm HS Holds First Open House

The Logan Elm School District proudly presented its first open house of the newly constructed and furnished Logan Elm High School last night.

Over 400 persons including faculty, board members, students, and their families and friends attended the official open house.

The evening's program began at 7:30 p. m. in the magnificent gymnasium - auditorium with the Rev. Earl C. Bowser, pastor of the Tarlton Methodist Church, giving the invocation.

Dr. Wells Wilson, Route 1, president of the Logan Elm board of Education, gave a brief welcome address and congratulatory message to the many persons who made the evening's event possible.

Entertainment for the program was provided by Logan Elm talent. Miss Sharon Sharrett, high school senior, appropriately sang "Bless this House". For an encore Miss Sharrett sang Jerome Kern's "The Way You Look Tonight", accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Carl Hohenstein.

Executive Head Carl S. Burger introduced the main speaker of the program, George D. McDowell, county superintendent of schools.

Superintendent McDowell commended the people of the Logan Elm School District for providing such outstanding educational facilities for the high school girls and boys of that district.

An introduction of the teaching staff by John Henn, principal, closed the program.

Members of the student body provided guided tours of the building for the eager crowd. The teaching staff was stationed at their individual classrooms for questions that the guests may have had.

One of the more fascinating classrooms that created a lot of discussion was the chemistry lab. Mrs. Robert Mills, chemistry teacher, was more than happy to explain the lab apparatus. Particularly the geiger counter and the radio - active material.

Many laudatory remarks could be heard throughout the halls of the school as the crowds wandered from room to room.

The official dedication of the building and grounds will be held sometime after the first of year, according to Dr. Wells Wilson.

Firman Mysteriously Shifted to Workhouse

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Gordon (Spunky) Firman, 21, awaiting trial on kidnap charges, has been shifted to the Cincinnati Workhouse. Sheriff Paul Pell reported the action Friday but gave no reason. Pell said Firman, of Steubenville, will be returned to Butler County Jail when he goes on trial on charges he forced four teenagers at gunpoint to drive him away from Hamilton last Aug. 16.

Avoid Sudden Changes in Cattle Rations

By CHARLES YOUNKMAN
Extension Trainee

Sudden changes in the ration of dairy cows often result in serious reduction in daily milk production. This has been observed on both experimental and farm herds.

The problem has been observed more often when abrupt shifts are made from corn silage and hay to forage crop silage.

Experiments have shown that milk production dropped from 10 to 20 per cent when cows were shifted abruptly to forage crop silage from either pasture or corn silage and hay. It was found that a period of four weeks was required before maximum milk production was reached after the abrupt change over.

The digestibility of the animals fell for three to four weeks following the change and the highest daily roughage intake was not reached until four to six weeks after the change.

THE following feeding suggestions are sometimes helpful in minimizing the loss in milk production when feeding changes are made. Make changes in the amount of supplemental grain which is fed to compensate for the grain in corn silage when changing to forage crop silage. If possible, avoid refilling silos containing grass legume silage with corn silage. The digestible protein content of the total ration should be maintained at eight per cent or higher when large amounts of forage crop silage are being fed.

In order to help prevent drops in milk production sudden changes in the ration should be avoided whenever possible.

This can be accomplished by starting to feed a little grass silage while the cows are still receiving corn silage. Then gradually increase the grass silage while decreasing the corn silage. A gradual change from one hay to another is also recommended.

FARM

PH and Fertility Partners In Good Soil Productivity

By RAY SHINDLER
Extension Trainee

Soil pH and fertility are linked in soil productivity. A farmer who has limed his soil and then used proper amounts of fertilizer often credits his high yields to the fertilizer only. However, he fails to give lime its full credit.

Lime sweetens our acid soils. This "sweetening" is actually the process of raising the pH level of the soil. With this rise of pH level, different elements become available to the plant. By availability, the elements in the soil are released or converted to a form that can be utilized by the plant.

To explain how a rise in soil pH affects these elements, let's consider liming a soil of pH 4.5. If we put on just enough lime to raise the pH to 5.5 we will have a very rapid increase in availability of manganese and boron but little increase in other elements.

But if we increase the amount of lime to raise the pH to 6.5 there will be a rapid increase in availability of phosphorous, potassium, calcium, magnesium, as well as manganese.

ALL of these minerals reach maximum availability at this point but calcium. This element's availability increases slightly to pH 7.0 (neutral) while manganese decreases slightly. If we further increase the amount of lime to raise the pH to 7.5 we begin to get a slight decrease of phosphorous and boron. This is why the farmer strives for a maximum pH of 6.5 to 7.0, depending upon the crop sown.

Lime also plays an important role in creating a proper environment for soil organisms. With an increase in pH, the soil organisms speed up their activity. This causes the soil organic matter to decompose more quickly, which in turn releases greater amounts of nitrogen and phosphate to the plants. Even here, the pH level should not greatly exceed 7.0 for maximum soil organism activity.

Plants also differ in their pH requirements. Alfalfa and sweet clover require a pH of from 6.5 to 7.5 for best production, while red clover does fine on soils of pH 6.0 to 7.0. Corn, wheat, and oats do well on soils with a pH range of 5.5 to 7.0.

If the farmer wants to get the most from his soil and his fertilizer dollars, he therefore must maintain a proper pH level. He can accomplish this by applying lime according to recommended rates as determined by soil tests.

Now is a good time to collect soil samples of meadows and next year's tilled crops. Bring the samples and the necessary information about your soil into your Extension Office.

The information should include soil type, position of soil, natural drainage, slope, intended use, liming history, crop rotation (beginning with last crop sown), and problems of the soil.

THIS information is necessary to get a true picture of the lime and fertilizer requirements. Then follow the recommendations that follow the analysis for each field. Apply the correct amount evenly over the ground as often as recommended. You'll get higher yields and utilize more of your fertilizer elements.

The County Extension Office has the following bulletins to help you: Bulletin 338 — "How to Sample Soil for Testing"; Bulletin 327 — "Liming Ohio's Acid Soils"; Pamphlet on "Comparison of Agricultural Liming Materials"; Bulletin 395 — "Soil Fertility and Fertilizers for Ohio Farms".

Aid to Pope Says Political Edicts Avoided

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Pope John XXIII's top spokesman in this nation says "the Catholic bishops of the United States have never taken any (political) position similar to that taken by the bishops of Puerto Rico."

Archbishop Egidio Vagnorzi, apostolic delegate to the United States, added in a statement this week "I am confident, also, no such action would ever be taken by the hierarchy in this country."

The archbishop commented concerning the action of the three Roman Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico who had a pastoral letter read last Sunday directing Puerto Rican Catholics not to vote for the Popular Democratic party which it said had passed laws permitting the teaching of birth control and permitting sterilization.

The letter brought strong criticism in the island and in the United States, where Democratic Presidential candidate John F. Kennedy's Catholic religion has been made an issue.

Vagnorzi released his statement without elaboration while in Mobile to attend the 50th anniversary ceremony of Archbishop Thomas J. Toolen's ordination as a priest.

Agreement with the apostolic delegate's statement came immediately from Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, who said: "It is totally out of step with American tradition for ecclesiastical authority here to dictate the political voting of citizens."

Looking for an idea for redecorating your home? You may want to use one or more of the popular colors for this year. You might choose one brilliant accent color and build your color scheme around it.

Accent colors now popular are: bottle green, olive green, brilliant true blue, bright pink, and bright red. Blue-green-purple and tangerine-yellow combinations which become popular a year ago are still in demand.

Textile sales to furniture manufacturers indicate that the beige brown color family still leads in sales. Gold and copper tones are gaining popularity.

When choosing new colors, consider your present furnishings which you don't plan to replace. The very brilliant accent colors could make your furnishings look dull and faded.

BEFORE selecting color consider the use of the room and how much care you are willing to give it. Although off-whites are gaining popularity in high style interior decorating, most active families will find them highly impractical. Very light colors will show soil much more readily than colors of medium value.

Be sure that in your anxiety to have the latest trend you select a color combination with which you and your family can live.

We are always hearing about the new fashion in women's clothes but seldom hear about clothing fashions for men.

Fall fashions are featuring a new "look" in men's shirts. Styles, fabrics and colors give a new lift. Clothing in plaid, stripes, checks, and prints can be complemented. You have a wide choice — from a hint of a tint to bold colors, narrow to wide spread collars and smooth to novelty fabrics.

Pastel shirt shades of ivory, pink, blue, and grey give a fresh approach to business suits. The casual or sportswear shirts may be from bold to conservative in color and print. Leading fall colors include gold, red, olive, grey, navy blue, and brown. Among these you will see some of the grape or vintage tones.

Novelty fabrics can be seen with the plain fabrics. Note the dobby weaves, embroidered fronts, stripes, checks, and chambrays.

Shirt collars are shorter for fall. While the British wide spread collars give a new appearance to the neckline on some shirts, the button down styles show a newness in fabric, color and fabric design. The non-roll button down collar with shorter points is an addition to the ivy group.

The rarest North American bird is the ivory billed woodpecker.

The letter brought strong criticism in the island and in the United States, where Democratic Presidential candidate John F. Kennedy's Catholic religion has been made an issue.

Vagnozzi released his statement without elaboration while in Mobile to attend the 50th anniversary ceremony of Archbishop Thomas J. Toolen's ordination as a priest.

Agreement with the apostolic delegate's statement came immediately from Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, who said: "It is totally out of step with American tradition for ecclesiastical authority here to dictate the political voting of citizens."

Young Master

CHICAGO (AP) — Education comes easy for Mitchell J. Sweig, who at 20, has received a master's degree from the University of Chicago.

He took a scholarship test in 1954 when he was a high school sophomore. He was a winner but the test was open only to those who had finished two years of high school.

The university withheld the award until he had completed the requirement. He entered the university in February, 1955, and received his bachelor's degree in June, 1959.

Now he begins his doctorate work in October.

Looking for an idea for redecorating your home? You may want to use one or more of the popular colors for this year. You might choose one brilliant accent color and build your color scheme around it.

Accent colors now popular are: bottle green, olive green, brilliant true blue, bright pink, and bright red. Blue-green-purple and tangerine-yellow combinations which become popular a year ago are still in demand.

Textile sales to furniture manufacturers indicate that the beige brown color family still leads in sales. Gold and copper tones are gaining popularity.

When choosing new colors, consider your present furnishings, which you don't plan to replace. The very brilliant accent colors could make your furnishings look dull and faded.

BEFORE selecting color consider the use of the room and how much care you are willing to give it. Although off-whites are gaining popularity in high style interior decorating, most active families will find them highly impractical. Very light colors will show soil much more readily than colors of medium value.

Be sure that in your anxiety to have the latest trend you select a color combination with which you and your family can live.

We are always hearing about the new fashion in women's clothes but seldom hear about clothing fashions for men.

Fall fashions are featuring a new "look" in men's shirts. Styles, fabrics and colors give a new lift. Clothing in plaid, stripes, checks, and prints can be complemented. You have a wide choice — from a hint of a tint to bold colors, narrow to wide spread collars and smooth to novelty fabrics.

Pastel shirt shades of ivory, pink, blue, and grey give a fresh approach to business suits. The casual or sportswear shirts may be from bold to conservative in color and print. Leading fall colors include gold, red, olive, gray, navy blue, and brown. Among these you will see some of the grape or vintage tones.

Novelty fabrics can be seen with the plain fabrics. Note the dobby weaves, embroidered fronts, stripes, checks, and chambrays.

Shirt collars are shorter for fall. While the British wide spread collar gives a new appearance to the neckline on some shirts, the button down styles show a newness in fabric, color and fabric design. The non-roll button down collar with shorter points is an addition to the ivy group.

The rarest North American bird is the ivory billed woodpecker.

Nerve-Center for Election Returns To Be Busy Place

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official nerve-center for compiling Ohio election returns is Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office in the northeast corner of the Capitol.

A small army of workers, news-men, broadcasters and politicians will pour over telephone reports from the 88 county election boards throughout the night of Nov. 8 and into the following Wednesday.

But you probably will learn faster how the candidates fared from a streamlined vote-gathering system maintained statewide by the Associated Press for the news agency's member newspapers and broadcasting stations, linked to the AP's nationwide election count.

Brown is arranging for an overflow influx of about 75 reporters and broadcasters. Major newspapers will have their own political writers in Brown's office, some of them in direct contact with their news desks by teletype printers.

Four major broadcasting networks will have their own staffs on hand for direct radio or television reports. At least three state radio hookups are planned and another will serve 10 states in the area, Brown said.

The secretary of state's own staff of 35 will be augmented by about 200 volunteer workers in basement tabulation quarters. Throughout the state about 135,000 officials and workers will handle the voting.

Brown's major problem is to find desk space for the vote-watchers in his cramped offices. About 50 extra telephone lines are being installed and by election night the quarters will appear to be decorated with spaghetti.

The hectic activity stems from the importance of Ohio's vote in the presidential election race of Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat John F. Kennedy. Sharing the spotlight will be the Buckeye contests for state auditor, three Ohio Supreme Court judges and 23 congressmen. Results of legislative, district and local contests will vie for later attention.

Brown predicts a record Ohio vote of more than four million but he expects the count to proceed smoothly for lack of other statewide races this year.

To speed the count, county election boards have increased the number of polling places from 13,051 to more than 14,000, Brown explained. Several major cities have obtained extra voting machines to prevent voting lines. They include Cleveland, Youngstown, Dayton, Columbus, Findlay and Springfield. A few counties using machines also have increased their number.

Some counties will use both machines and the customary paper ballots. They include Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Allen, Butler, Coshocton, Crawford, Geauga, Logan and Marion.

Brown and key members of his staff will remain on duty around the clock until all Ohio returns are in. His final totals will be unofficial, until written reports from election boards are tabulated, but the official count isn't expected to change the early outcome of major races.

It may take a court decision to decide an election dispute over a seventh district appellate court judge for an unexpired term in eastern Ohio.

An attorney general's ruling his the candidacy of Republican Paul Brown, Youngstown attorney, but the state's chief election official, also a Republican, insists votes should be counted for the GOP candidate.

The dispute arose because Brown was an unsuccessful candidate for nomination in a supreme court contest won by former Gov. C. William O'Neill. Brown later became the GOP candidate for appellate court judge by selection of party committees in the 13-county district.

The attorney general held that statute prevents anyone who ran in a primary from seeking any other office in the following general election. But the secretary of state asserts it is up to the election board in the district's most populous county to decide whose name goes on the ballot. In this case it is the Mahoning County board.

A vacancy on the district court occurred with the death of Judge Elmer T. Phillips, whose term expires Feb. 8, 1963. Democrat Gov. Michael V. DiSalle appointed William Allman, former assistant state welfare director, to fill the vacancy last Aug. 15. Allman is the Democratic candidate opposing Brown for the unexpired term.

The appellate court district is composed of the counties of Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Portage, Trumbull, Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Monroe and Noble in addition to Mahoning.

Negro Leader Urges 'Art' Of Suffering

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Integration leader Martin Luther King Jr. says Negroes must "master the art of creative suffering" to push their fight against segregation.

"We must be prepared to suffer, sacrifice and even die," he said Thursday night after spending eight days in jail in connection with Atlanta sit-in demonstrations and a traffic charge in nearby DeKalb County.

"We must continue to have the courage to challenge the system of segregation," he declared, "whether it is in schools, public parks, Christian churches, lunch counters or public libraries."

King spoke to about 800 persons attending a "thanksgiving prayer service" at the Ebenezer Baptist church shortly after his release from the Georgia State Prison at Reidsville.

The exponent of nonviolence called on his followers not to rest "until we have achieved the ideals of our democracy."

King's father, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., co-pastor of the church, announced during the meeting that he was switching his vote and support to Sen. John F. Kennedy because of the Democratic presidential candidate's interest in his son's case.

The pastor said he had opposed Kennedy because he is a Roman Catholic until Kennedy telephoned his daughter-in-law Tuesday to express sympathy about the jail sentence.

"It took courage to call at a time like this," the pastor said. "Kennedy has the moral courage to stand up for what he knows is right."

The integration leader was released from the state prison under $2,000 bond pending appeal of a traffic conviction to the Georgia Court of Appeals.

MAID OF COTTON—Following their marriage at the Hollywood home of movie producer David O. Selznick, actor Joseph Cotten casts admiring eyes at his bride, British actress Patricia Medina. They were to honeymoon in Europe.

100 Years Ago this week in the U.S.A.

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles The Herald will publish weekly covering activities in the United States 100 years ago. Today's story deals with the threatened secession by South Carolina and other Southern States.

Excitement is growing over the forthcoming national canvass for presidential electors. On all hands it is agreed, however, that the future of the Union rests with the people as they choose their next President of the United States.

During this pre-election month many strong rumors and some actual facts have been issuing from every section of the country, and they all indicate that the heretofore lightly regarded threats of secession by some of the "Cotton States" may develop into formal actions that could embarrass the Federal government.

South Carolina is a leader in this secession movement and a well-founded report has been received of a meeting held at the residence of Senator Jams Hammond in that state, which was attended by Governor Gist, ex-governor Adams ex-speaker of the House, James Orr, and all the Congressional delegation except for one member who was ill. It is reported that the meeting terminated in a resolve to withdraw the State of South Carolina from the United States of America in the event of the election of A. Lincoln.

This action does not come as a thorough surprise in view of the continued disunion statements that have appeared in newspapers from that state and in reported speeches made by South Carolina leaders during the past several months. The meeting does, however, add a note of authority to the previously casual threats and may have some effect in the canvass on November 6th.

It is also heavily rumored that governors of several other southern states have secretly informed Governor Gist that should South Carolina go out, their own respective states would soon follow.

The rapidly increasing murmurs of secession have brought varied reactions from dignitaries in the Federal government. An indication of the concern that is felt by some officials was revealed in a letter which was dispatched on October 29 from General Winfield Scott (general-in-chief of the Army) in New York, to Secretary of War Floyd. Among other things, the General suggested that "some danger of an early act of rashness preliminary to secession... could result in the seizure of several of the southern Federal posts.

The General pointed out that the posts should be strengthened in order to make "any attempt to take any one of them by surprise of a coup de main, ridiculous." The posts mentioned in the General's letter were Forts Jackson and St. Philip near the mouth of the Mississippi River, Fort Morgan below Mobile, Pickens and McKee at Pensacola, Pulaski near Savannah, Moultrie and Sumter in Charleston Harbor, and Fort Monroe at Hampton Roads.

The War Department has made no reference as to the disposition of the General's suggestions, except that they have been referred to the President.

News has arrived aboard the ship Asia of continued success by Garibaldi in his revolution against the King of Naples. After he had successfully driven the Neoplatans from Sicily, he himself crossed the straits with several thousand troops and marched on Naples, which he occupied with little difficulty on the 7th of September. He established a provisional government in support of Victor Emanuel.

The King of Naples, in the meantime, has retreated to Capua where he says that he will make a stand with his 30,000 troops.

Ike's Press Aid Sheds Little Light

WASHINGTON (AP)—Press secretary James C. Hagerty gave newsmen a little help today on how to distinguish President Eisenhower's political from his non-political speeches.

A reporter inquired plaintively: "Jim, how do you tell what is a political trip and what isn't?" Hagerty grinned and replied: "Whatever I announce, that's what it is."

Last night's televised address at Philadelphia is avowedly political, in behalf of the Nixon-Lodge Republican ticket. But last week's far-ranging Eisenhower speaking tour, called nonpolitical, was criticized by Democrats because of meetings between the President and Republican leaders in route as well as comments in the speeches which Democrats contended were hardly nonpartisan.

Cost of College Goes Higher

It is not surprising that more than one-fifth of parents sending their children to college find it difficult to pay the bill, as a survey by the University of Michigan has discovered. Paying college costs was never easy.

The average undergraduate of today requires $1,550 a year to cover the basic costs of a college degree, an average which has grown 10 per cent since the last U. S. Office of Education survey in 1953. And the non-basic costs may match this, as many a parent can testify.

In surveying 2,700 families across the nation to answer the government's request for up-to-date figures on the cost of higher education, the Michigan researchers discovered that not only do more parents expect to send their child through college, but more than ever are planning realistically for the expenditure.

When the time comes to pay the bill from savings accumulated for the purpose, nevertheless, 21 per cent of parents find themselves in real difficulty. To help meet the cost, one of every five mothers goes to work to supplement the family income. In addition, four of every five expect the student to help pay his way by part-time employment during the school year or summer work.

Student income in the families interviewed averaged less than $500 a year, with the remainder contributed by the parents. Almost without exception there was a prevalent tendency to utilize all other methods of financing short of borrowing.

"There seems to be little question that parents are now making more adequate provision for the future than did parents of children who have recently been to college," reported the educators. But it is still not enough in one of five families.

One factor which cannot be overlooked in a survey of this type is the high toll inflation takes from adequate planning for the future. Most parents are wise enough to plan early for their children's education. Many start a savings account or begin regular purchase of securities while the child is still in infancy. Even above-average income families are seldom able to afford $1,500 a year or more from current income, taxes being what they are.

Thus, parents of students now enrolled in college probably began saving for the event 10 or 15 years ago. Goals established at that time are obsolete today, because of inflation in general and the higher cost of education in particular. The same will be true of parents with young children today who base their savings on a final expenditure of $6,000 for four years.

Inflation may be halted someday, but parents should not bet their children's education on it.

New State Department Idea

By George Sokolsky

The State Department obviously needs reorganization. Its system of indirect policy-making at low levels has resulted in too many significant errors, particularly as regards China, Indonesia, Cuba, and the Congo.

The lower levels consist of deskmen who are presumed to be experts. In a word, they are technicians. The essential difference between a technician and a guiding personality is that the latter adds a technical knowledge, experience, wisdom, imagination, flair.

Those who represent the State Department to the public and to Congress, that is, the Secretary of State and the Under Secretaries, are often not as technically informed as the assistant secretaries and the deskmen, but they are responsible for policy.

When policy is made at the lower levels, the decisions are bound to be troublesome because they are often not correlated with other policies of government and sometimes represent the private and biased views of immature deskmen.

Many competent men have, at various times, suggested a reorganization of the State Department. The most serious effort to be made in recent years was when Herbert Hoover, Jr., was Under Secretary, but he found himself in difficulties because of civil service arrangements which amount to tenure. This makes it very difficult to get rid of useless, incompetent or even disturbing personnel.

Former Governor Averell Harriman has now come up with an interesting suggestion. He would give status to the men in charge of the regional divisions. Let me put it in his words:

"I propose that the status of the men in charge of the five regional divisions of the State Department be elevated to attract men of outstanding position and experience. The title might be 'Secretary for Africa,' for example. These Secretaries for the five regions plus the Ambassador to the United Nations and the Under Secretaries should become the Senior Cabinet of the Secretary of State.

"The success of this proposal would depend upon the stature of the first group of men who were selected for these Secretaryships. They should be men with the capacity and qualifications for the capacity and qualifications for the Secretaryship of State itself. After all, our problems in each of the five areas today are greater than the entire problems which a Secretary of State faced just a generation ago."

This is a workable suggestion if a President can find the right men to serve. My special experience is with the Far East. The last man to look after Far Eastern affairs in the State Department was Dr. Stanley Hornbeck who left the Department in 1944. Since then, with the exception of Walter Robertson, only technicians have served.

Much of the confusion over Far Eastern policy has developed because no one in the State Department for decades recognized the East of Asia as a whole. The weakness in Harriman's proposal is his division by continents. Asia, for instance, politically is not one but several areas, and to put a man of stature over the technicians in each area would be very sound. It would not only strengthen the Department, it would help the President in formulating and presenting policy.

Harriman says:

"The Secretary for Africa should visit each country during the course of the year and represent the President to the governments as a Special Ambassador. He would see to it that the problems arising in each country got top level attention."

Woodrow Wilson used Colonel House for his very purpose. Franklin D. Roosevelt named Norman Davis a roving ambassador. But a roving ambassador does not have the status that a "Secretary for Europe" would have. Henry Cabot Lodge, as our Ambassador to the United Nations, elevated that post to exactly the position that Governor Harriman has in mind. He went even further: he sat in the President's Cabinet and played a role in formulating policy.

This may not be the last word in plans for reorganization of the State Department. There are undoubtedly many proposals because the time has come when something must be done about it.

The Harriman proposal is, however, worthy of consideration. One of its advantages could be that the Administration could employ a number of competent, distinguished, experienced men who are required to retire at a young age, such as 62, who ought still to be serving their country.

ONE OF MOST WANTED—Described as a desperate armed robber and narcotics addict with a 24-year criminal record, 40-year-old James George Economou has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." A federal warrant issued in 1958 in Sacramento, Calif., charges Economou with unlawful flight to avoid confinement after conviction for armed robbery.

THEATRICAL MAESTRO Sam Harris once bought a play because he heard an outstanding dramatic star of the period, Arnold Daly, reading it to a group, and found himself profoundly moved by it. It turned out to be one of the most dismal failures of his career.

"This has been a valuable lesson to me," said Harris. "This is what I get for letting a $2,000-a-week actor read a drama for me and getting a $100-a-week actor to play it!"

Russel Crouse recalls the story of a man whose wife presented him with eight daughters in a row. When the ninth baby turned out to be a boy, the delirious father went on a week-long celebration that broke several records.

On the seventh day somebody asked him, "Who does it look like: you or your wife?" "I don't know," admitted the proud parent happily. "We haven't looked at his face yet."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next president will face problems which are the direct opposite of those Franklin D. Roosevelt encountered when he took office in 1933.

The president in 1961 will work on domestic dilemmas which involve only comparatively mild changes, but abroad he must cope with a world going through an intense revolutionary period.

The world Roosevelt faced in 1933 was not revolutionary. Communism was contained within the Soviet frontiers. The great colonial powers still held their colonies. No upheavals were then in sight.

But at home Roosevelt took charge of a nation flat on its back in depression, fresh out of steam and ideas, and not only dreadfully in need of drastic treatment but ready and anxious for it.

Roosevelt's remedy was the New Deal. This was revolutionary only in the sense of being so intensely different from the slow pace of social and economic adjustments which had preceded it in the 20th century.

This is not the task facing Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy here in this country which, more or less, is fat and prosperous.

U.S., German French Gls In Same Unit

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Joe. Pierre and Kurt—American, French and German soldiers—eating, working, buddies and rooming together?

Strange as it might seem to soldiers of World Wars I and II, they are doing it here in a NATO experiment in manpower integration.

A GI named Joe Murphy, a French corporal named Pierre G. Brasseur and a German Pfc. named Kurt Tag tumbled out of their barracks today for roll call—barked by a German army sergeant on a U.S. base here.

The three ate a breakfast prepared by French cooks and then went to a class in advanced automobile mechanics. Tonight they may hit town together.

"We've all got a common enemy now, so we must forget that we were once enemies," said Pfc. Murphy, 20, of New Haven, Conn.

Murphy expressed the concept behind the integration experiment. It has been two years in the planning by NATO headquarters, which feels the Soviet threat to Western Europe must be met by integration of manpower as well as of weapons.

Eventually 100 Americans, 100 French and 100 Germans will take part in the experiment, forming the headquarters unit of NATO's Central Army Group (CENTAG).

If this headquarters group proves successful, integration may be extended. But how far depends on French President Charles De Gaulle, who opposes full NATO integration.

Dixie Police Patrol Beats on Bicycles

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Some police are patrolling their beats on bicycles because the machines are less conspicuous than cars and easier on the feet than walking.

Life Story of John F. Kennedy

Illustrated by A. S. Packer Text by Ralph Hollenbeck

The Road to the Presidency

... During a rigorous schedule demanded by campaigning and Senate duties, Jack Kennedy still found time for relaxation with his wife and daughter, either at home in Georgetown, Md., or at the family summer home at Hyannis Port, on Cape Cod. (It was here Mrs. Kennedy awaited the outcome of the 1960 convention because she was expecting their second child just before the momentous election on November 8.) ...

... Membership on the McClellan Senate committee investigating labor-management abuses gave Jack Kennedy the opportunity to state his opinions on labor matters and to gather information toward the formulation of labor bills bearing his name which were unsuccessful in passage through the Congress. The committee also proved a testing ground for the organizational abilities of Jack's brother, Robert, who served as counselor for the committee. Brother Bob became Jack's campaign manager during the months preceding the 1960 Democratic convention, when the Kennedys stumped the country seeking victory in spring primary contests. By the opening of the convention in July, Jack Kennedy was the leading contender with delegates variously estimated at from 400 to over 700 pledged to his candidacy ...

... Though Jack Kennedy was favored to win the Presidential nomination there was still strong opposition from other candidates. Kennedy organization and strategy paid off with a first ballot landslide. Before the wild demonstrations that greeted his nomination, and backed by family members who had done so much to advance his candidacy, Jack Kennedy faced only one more obstacle in his climb to the highest office ...

This is not the task facing Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy here in this country which, more or less, is fat and prosperous.

Since prosperity is not a period for rocking the boat, the nation is neither anxious for nor thinking of extreme measures. Neither candidate is offering anything radically new.

Abroad it's different. The next president not only will have to handle communism as it exists in Russia, Eastern Europe and Asia but must seek some way to induce the new nations, newly freed from colonialism, to stay away from communism.

Those new nations, backward and poor, all want to come abreast of the 20th century in a rush. Coping with them and their problems and desires—particularly in competition with Communism—will tax all the ingenuity of the man who moves into the White House in January.

Whether or not in the 1960s this country has a medical care program for the aged financed through Social Security—as Kennedy says it should be—is hardly a revolutionary question.

The answer, of course, will be of great importance to millions of aged people. But if Kennedy is elected and has his way, linking medical care for the aged to Social Security will still be only an extension of the Social Security system.

It cannot be considered in the same league—for newness and its far-reaching implications—with the creation of the Social Security system itself by Congress in 1935.

Whether—under Kennedy or Nixon—more or less would be spent on defense, school construction, development of natural resources or the farm program is a matter of degree and not of essential difference.

It's for this reason much of the presidential campaign has revolved around the personalities of the two men rather than around their programs or the issues they talk of.

Theme for the Reformation Day, which will be celebrated at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Presbyterian Church, will be "Our Christian Heritage".

To tell our heritage or to lose it by default is to profane those whose sufferings paid for it; and many of us can trace our lineage to those who endured persecution and torture and death in protest against the misuse of the Christian Church of which Christ only is the head cornerstone.

The Rev. Donald Mitchell will read the Scripture from the 8th chapter of the Gospel of St. John.

Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play at the organ, "Prelude on the theme B-A-C-H" by Biggs, "Still Waters" by Weaver and "March from Athalia" by Mendelssohn.

Hymns to be sung by the congregation will include "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God", "O Word Of God Incarnate" and "Our God Our Help".

In observance of Laymen's Sunday, October 30, the First Methodist Church will feature Mr. Richard Snouffer as the speaker for both the 8:30 and 10:45 a. m. worship services. He has chosen for his subject, "Always be Prepared".

Mr. Snouffer is one of the young men in the leadership of the church. He is chairman of the Official Board, teacher of the Senior High Sunday School Class, and actively interested in many other phases of church life. His position as teacher and guidance counselor in the local school is well known and highly valued.

Mr. J. J. Sweeney another young layman, will assist with the early service. Mr. Richard Plum, superintendent of the Sunday School, will share in the later worship service.

Junior Choir will sing the anthem, "Sweet Hour of Prayer" by Bradbury, in the early service. "We Ask Thee, O Lord" by Morgan will be the Senior Choir anthem for the later service. The congregational hymns will be "Onward Christian Soldiers", "Faith of our fathers" and "Are ye Able?".

I call Bruce my combination angel-terror. Soon he will be four, and he is a fascinating mixture of mischief and goodness.

At bedtime, I always tiptoe into his room to be sure he's covered. Then it is that I am struck by the innocence of his face in sleep. Then it is that I realize how helpless is this small dynamo, who plunges with such boundless energy about our house and yard all day. Then it is that I am struck by the awesomeness of my responsibility.

I realize it is entirely up to me to see that Bruce learns right from wrong, to see that he grows into the sort of man who will be a credit to his family, his community, and his country. I must teach him to keep a steady heart and a level head, to resist the many temptations that will be strewn in his path, to hold honor and truth and integrity high.

When I think of my task, I send a small and special prayer to God to aid me. And I thank God for his Church on earth which, for years to come, will be helping me, again and again, in making my small mischief into a man.

Make Church - Going a Habit

OSU Freshman Wins Trip To Europe with Tweed Suit

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Did you ever hear of turning a raccoon collar into a trip to Europe for two, plus $1,000?

Pretty Mary Jane Diehl, 18, Can-field, Ohio, did it. With the help of a little old sewing machine.

Blonde, blue-eyed Mary Jane is the first prize winner in the Misses and Mrs. Division of the

(Singer) Young Stylistmaker Contest. Her entry was a chic brown and white herringbone tweed suit with a raccoon collar she removed from her little boy coat. The outfit cost $35 to make.

"I always wanted a suit just like that to wear to college," says

Mary Jane, a freshman at Ohio

State, "so when the contest came along, I thought why not sew that costume and submit it?"

This isn't her first award in sewing. She won three Grade A 4-H awards in tailoring and one in soc-cutume, which includes the complete tailoring of hat, dress, coat, bag.

"I was sewing even before that on doll clothes, like lots of other girls," she explains. "My mother loves to sew and we often sew together. I have made curtains for my church and vests for my dad.

Mary Jane sometimes feels that she'd like to have a ready-made outfit from a store. Her clothes are usually made at home.

"I guess I'm no different from other girls, though," she says.

I've heard many of them say that just for a change, they'd like to wear something different," she says, "but I usually prefer home tailored clothes."

She plans to teach Home Econ omics, although there is one hitch — she can't cook.

"My mother is such a wonder- ful cook that I've never really had a chance to learn. My father would rather eat her cooking than my ex- periments."

The thousand dollars will go to- wards college tuition, she says. A statesque 5 foot 7, Mary Jane pays part of her tuition by model- ing Junior sportswear in fashion shows at a Youngstown depart- ment store.

She'd love it if her mother and father would make the trip to Europe with her.

"But dad likes it here too much to uproot himself. Mother will ad- ore it, so I know we'll have a good time."

The first thing Mary Jane plans to do when she returns to Ohio, from the award festivities in New York is make her beau a vest.

"He ordered it," she says, "the instant he knew I was a finalist in the contest. I guess he figured then, that maybe I could sew."

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Sitting on a Powder Keg!

DEAR ABBY: I am a college student. Last year I met a student who attends another college. We were strongly attracted to each other. I sent him my picture, signed "Love, forever." He came to see me many times. We got very serious and then I heard that he had been married all along. He denied it. When I got proof he admitted he was married and the father of a little boy. I told him it was hopeless for us but he insisted he loved me and things could be worked out. Now his wife knows about us because he confessed everything. If she names me in her divorce suit my reputa- tion will be ruined because we went beyond kissing. What should I do?

DEAR RUINED: All you can do is wait. If you are involved in the divorce, you will need a law- yer to represent you. In the mean time, talk to the chaplain at your college. He will give you the moral support you need.

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours invited us to their daughter's wedding in 1957. We sent the bride a very lovely wedding gift. In 1958 she had a baby, which they announced with those little printed "hints" (this also burns me up) and I had to send a gift. In 1959 they got a divorce. Now get this—last week this girl's parents sent out announcements of their daugh- ter's marriage to another man. Do we have to send another wed- ding gift?

DEAR BURNED UP: No one HAS to send a gift for any occasion. Rich gifts wax cold when giver is burned up.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a man who wants to marry me. I think I love him but he does something which I neither love nor understand. He likes to hunt deer and shoot wild birds. I know lots of men hunt and no one thinks it is cruel, but I cannot marry a man who will take a gun and kill defenseless birds and animals just for the sport of it. Maybe if I were starving to death I would kill in order to eat, but I can't see any excuse for it today. When I told him I would marry him if he gave up hunting, he laughed in my face. Was I so foolish?

DEAR SOFT-HEARTED: You were not foolish. If you feel that way, don't marry him.

DEAR ABBY: I know it is your job to give advice, not mine, but I hope you will print my story for all teen-agers who are in hurry to get married. I fell in love with Tom when I was 15. He was 18. I fought with my family because I wanted to quit school and get married. He wanted to go to trade school, but I begged him to take any kind of job so we could get married. We ran off and got married and broke our parents' hearts. Tom wasn't ready to settle down so we started to fuss at each other. I got pregnant. He couldn't stand my whining so he left me. Now he wants a divorce because he says he missed out on his youth and it was my fault. He is right. I still love him, but his love for me has turned to hate.

Please, girls, stay home and finish school and let the guys grow up before you start nagging for marriage. I am 16 years old, pregnant, and will be a divorcee in five months.

"A 16-YEAR-OLD HAS BEEN"

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamp- ed, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

OSU Freshman Wins Trip To Europe with Tweed Suit

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Did you ever hear of turning a raccoon collar into a trip to Europe for two, plus $1,000?

Pretty Mary Jane Diehl, 18, Canfield, Ohio, did it. With the help of a little old sewing machine.

Blonde, blue-eyed Mary Jane is the first prize winner in the Misses and Mrs. Division of the (Singer) Young Stylistmaker Contest. Her entry was a chic brown and white herringbone tweed suit with a raccoon collar she removed from her little boy coat. The outfit cost $35 to make.

"I always wanted a suit just like that to wear to college," says Mary Jane, a freshman at Ohio State, "so when the contest came along, I thought why not sew that costume and submit it?"

This isn't her first award in sewing. She won three Grade A 4-H awards in tailoring and one in costume, which includes the complete tailoring of hat, dress, coat, bag.

"I was sewing even before that on doll clothes, like lots of other girls," she explains. "My mother loves to sew and we often sew together. I have made curtains for my church and vests for my dad."

Mary Jane sometimes feels that she'd like to have a ready-made outfit from a store. Her clothes are usually made at home.

"I guess I'm no different from other girls, though," she says. "I've heard many of them say that just for a change, they'd like to wear something different," she says, "but I usually prefer home tailored clothes."

She plans to teach Home Economics, although there is one hitch—she can't cook.

"My mother is such a wonderful cook that I've never really had a chance to learn. My father would rather eat her cooking than my experiments."

The thousand dollars will go towards college tuition, she says. A statesque 5 foot 7, Mary Jane pays part of her tuition by modeling Junior sportswear in fashion shows at a Youngstown department store.

She'd love it if her mother and father would make the trip to Europe with her.

"But dad likes it here too much to uproot himself. Mother will adore it, so I know we'll have a good time."

The first thing Mary Jane plans to do when she returns to Ohio, from the award festivities in New York is make her beau a vest.

"He ordered it," she says, "the instant he knew I was a finalist in the contest. I guess he figured then, that maybe I could sew."

Giants in Line For Lead in Pro Grid Play

Cleveland Can Move To Runnerup Spot By Beating Redskins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The record books show there is no such thing as a sure winner in the National Football League. But if form holds true for Sunday's six games, the New York Giants will still be unbeaten at the top of the Eastern Conference and the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears will be tied for the Western Conference lead.

The Giants (3-0-1) are favored to take the St. Louis Cardinals (2-3) by 10 points at Yankee Stadium. Earlier in the season at St. Louis, the Giants thumped the Cards 35-14.

Green Bay (3-1) and Chicago (3-1-1) are both touchdown favorites. The Packers will be at Pittsburgh for a game with the ever-tough Steelers (2-2-1) and the Bears at San Francisco against the 49ers (2-3).

Baltimore's defending champions, battling to get back into the Western Conference lead, after losing two of their five games, are favored by 14 points over the winless Cowboys at Dallas.

The Philadelphia Eagles (4-1) second in the Eastern Division, are idle. Thus the Cleveland Browns (3-1) can move into a tie for runner-up honors back of the Giants by beating the Redskins (1-1-2) at Washington. The Browns are 10-point favorites.

The Los Angeles Rams (0-4-1) are at home to Detroit (1-3) in the league's other game. The Rams are favored by a touchdown.

There's one thing sure to happen in the American Football League Sunday.

The Los Angeles Chargers and the Oakland Raiders will be rooting for the Dallas Texans to upset the Denver Broncos at Denver. In that event the Western Division race would be turned into a four-way scramble with Denver and Los Angeles tied for first 4-3 and Oakland and Dallas right behind with 4-4 and 3-4.

The position of the first-place Houston Oilers (5-1) in the Eastern Division is not threatened in their Sunday clash with the third-place Buffalo Bills (2-4) at Buffalo.

Los Angeles and Oakland moved into their contending positions Friday night with victories over the Boston Patriots and New York Titans. Los Angeles had an easy time but Oakland had to come from behind three times to nip New York 28-27.

Turner, Stout Unit Take Pin Honors

Stout's Insurance reigned as top team in Thursday Nite Industrial league bowling this week at Prairie Lanes.

Paul Turner of Stout's reaped individual honors with a 221 single game and 541 pins for the three-game series.

Turner had able assistance as his mates combined for a 977 team game and finished with 2,775 pins for the night.

The standings:

Pro Bowl Game Set
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 11th annual Pro Bowl football game, a clash between selected stars of the Western and Eastern Divisions of the National Football League, will be played in Memorial Coliseum Jan. 15.

Browns Head For Battle With Redskins

CLEVELAND (AP)—Line backer Galen Fiss missed the Cleveland Browns' workout at League Park Friday because of an attack of influenza, but is expected to be in shape for Sunday's game with the Redskins in Washington.

The Browns leave this morning for what probably will be their last appearance in Griffith Stadium.

President George Marshall of the Washington Club has signed a contract for a 30-year lease on the new Washington Stadium, which is to be dedicated next September. The stadium also will be the home of the new Washington baseball team in the American League.

The Browns are scheduled to work out at Griffith Stadium this afternoon. They will return to Cleveland immediately after the game Sunday.

Cleveland will be seeing some familiar faces in the first meeting of the season with the Redskins.

Francis O'Brien, regular left tackle on offense for Washington, was working as a second string tackle with the Browns a year ago. Bob Khayat, who does the place kicking and plays some at guard for the Redskins, was on the same team with Bobby Franklin of the Browns at Mississippi last year.

Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland gave up O'Brien and Khayat to get Sam Baker, who now does the place kicking and punting for the Browns.

Abe Giron and Tim Temerario, two of the Washington coaches, have seen service with the Cleveland team. Giron was left guard for the Browns for six seasons before moving on to the Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears. He is the offensive line coach for the Redskins. Temerario, Washington's end coach and chief scout, served under Paul Brown in 1950.

Callihan Tops In Keg Tests

Bob Callihan reached top listing this week in Scratch Doubles competition at Circle D Lanes with series scores of 588 and 563.

Close behind was John Fiore's 525-516. On down the line it was Doug Glitt 525, Tom Eveland 524, Larry Dietrich 516, Mike Brown 505, Paul Chaffin 504 and Jim Hoover and John Dietrich 500.

Callihan's 250 and 214 were high single games. His 250 included nine strikes. Additional high games were Jim Hoover's 212 and 210, Eveland's 207 and Larry Dietrich's 204.

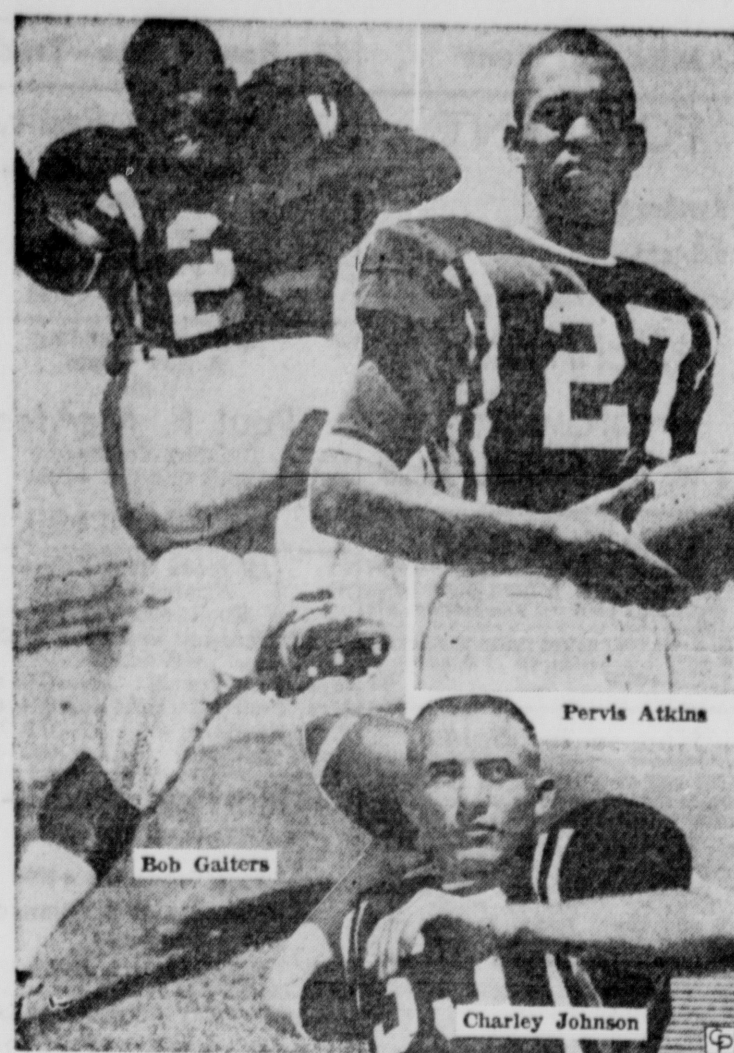

The six teams participating and members in the scratch matches include Ralph Ankrom and Bob Callihan of Jack's Tavern, John Fiore and Tom Eveland of Bowlers Tabulating, Paul Chaffin and Larry Dietrich of Heywood-Mercer Chevrolet, Charles Sabine and John Dietrich of Circle D, Jim Hoover and Doug Glitt of Hoover's Music and George Ramey and Mike Brown of Ramey Plasters.

The standings:

Middletown Golfer In Tourney Finals

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Defending champion Bill McCabe of Middletown, Ohio, advanced to today's finals in the Dorado Invitational Golf Tournament by defeating Cullen Johnston, Puerto Rico, 5 and 4. The other finalist, Jack Fure of Puerto Rico, eliminated Andy Augaitis of Dayton, Ohio, 1-70 in Friday semi-final round.

There are about 4½ million golfers in the United States, an increase of more than 30 per cent in the last 10 years.

16 District Chiefs Named By Ohio Basketball Pilots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school basketball coaches have agreed on a new system for selecting players for the June 17 North-South All-Star game at Cuyahoga Falls.

The 1,300 coaches will wind up their annual clinic today.

The new selection method splits the state into 16 districts with eight of them, representing 447 schools, in the south and the other eight, representing 508 schools, in the north.

The board of directors of the Ohio High School Coaches' Association was increased in size to include a representative from each of the new areas.

Each squad in the cage classic has 10 players. To fill out the 10-man squads—since each of the eight districts will have one player—the coach in the half of the state of acting as host will make two additional selections. The sponsor and the host coach will select one each in the other half of the state.

Paul Walker of Middletown was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the association, and John Cabas of Salem was elected second vice president. Bill Satterlee of Akron South assumed the presidency for the next two years. Tom Thatcher of Sulphur Springs, the first vice president, will take over at the conclusion of Satterlee's term.

Brown Chalks Record for Ring Defenses

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Joe Brown today holds the record for successful lightweight title defenses—his ninth—after a fun-filled unanimous win over Cisco Andrade.

Brown, who spent almost as much time laughing as punching Friday night, toyed with Andrade to score a lopsided decision.

Referee Lee Grossman scored the fight 12-3, judge Tommy Hart 14-1 and judge George Latka 13-3. The champ from Houston weighed 134½ and Andrade of suburban Compton 133½.

Andrade, 30, accused Brown of loafing and running backwards. The 34-year-old champ commented: "I'm an old man. That's why I was trying to rest in the middle rounds. I wasn't playing around. But he didn't open up the way I expected him to."

Brown, sidestepping and connecting with good lefts whenever he felt like it, made the 15-round title go more like a training camp sparring session.

Cisco got under Brown's lengthier reach in the eighth and landed what looked like the hardest punch of the fight—a corking right to the champion's jaw. It hurt Brown.

The champion said he wants to go after title defense No. 10 before the end of the year—against either Eddie Perkins or Len Matthews. A telegram from Perkins, challenging the winner, was read from ringside.

The win broke a record of successful title defenses in the lightweight division which Brown had shared with the old-time great, Benny Leonard.

Criticism by Church Said To Be Backfiring

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and leaders of his Popular Democratic party expressed belief today that the pastoral letter forbidding Roman Catholics to vote for their party is boomeranging.

Electioneering through the countryside, Munoz is drawing bigger crowds than before Puerto Rico's three Catholic bishops issued their letter, which attacked the party because it passed laws allowing the teaching of birth control and the sterilization of mental defectives.

District 16: (62)—Bobby Firth, Cincinnati Princeton. (Hamilton, Clermont, Clinton, Brown.)

Thompson To Meet Ortega in TV Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Federico Thompson, an Argentine by way of Panama, meets Gaspar Ortega, an Indian from Mexico, in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

At stake for the Argentine is a title fight with Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paré, the world welter-weight champion, at the Garden, Dec. 10.

Thompson, No. 2 contender and unbeaten in his last 26 fights is a 2-1 favorite.

It's a big risk for the 32-year-old Argentine. If he should lose decisively it will cost him the Paré fight, which he has all wrapped up.

The South Central Ohio League has practically boiled down to a two team race involving Greenfield and Washington C. H.

Both teams won last night to remain undefeated in the loop and set the stage for Friday when Greenfield invades the lair of the Blue Lions for what should be a powerful struggle.

Greenfield put the squeeze on previous league co-leader Franklin Heights, 30-14. Washington breezed past Wilmington, 30-6.

Giants in Line For Lead in Pro Grid Play

Cleveland Can Move To Runnerup Spot By Beating Redskins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The record books show there is no such thing as a sure winner in the National Football League. But if form holds true for Sunday's six games, the New York Giants will still be unbeaten at the top of the Eastern Conference and the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears will be tied for the Western Conference lead.

The Giants (3-0-1) are favored to take the St. Louis Cardinals (2-3) by 10 points at Yankee Stadium. Earlier in the season at St. Louis, the Giants thumped the Cards 35-14.

Green Bay (3-1) and Chicago (3-1-1) are both touchdown favorites. The Packers will be at Pittsburgh for a game with the ever-tough Steelers (2-2-1) and the Bears at San Francisco against the 49ers (2-3).

Baltimore's defending champions, battling to get back into the Western Conference lead, after losing two of their five games, are favored by 14 points over the winless Cowboys at Dallas.

The Philadelphia Eagles (4-1) second in the Eastern Division, are idle. Thus the Cleveland Browns (3-1) can move into a tie for runner-up honors back of the Giants by beating the Redskins (1-1-2) at Washington. The Browns are 10-point favorites.

The Los Angeles Rams (0-4-1) are at home to Detroit (1-3) in the league's other game. The Rams are favored by a touchdown.

There's one thing sure to happen in the American Football League Sunday.

The Los Angeles Chargers and the Oakland Raiders will be rooting for the Dallas Texans to upset the Denver Broncos at Denver. In that event the Western Division race would be turned into a four-way scramble with Denver and Los Angeles tied for first 4-3 and Oakland and Dallas right behind with 4-4 and 3-4.

The position of the first-place Houston Oilers (5-1) in the Eastern Division is not threatened in their Sunday clash with the third-place Buffalo Bills (2-4) at Buffalo.

Los Angeles and Oakland moved into their contending positions Friday night with victories over the Boston Patriots and New York Titans. Los Angeles had an easy time but Oakland had to come from behind three times to nip New York 28-27.

Browns Head For Battle With Redskins

CLEVELAND (AP)—Line backer Galen Fiss missed the Cleveland Browns' workout at League Park Friday because of an attack of influenza, but is expected to be in shape for Sunday's game with the Redskins in Washington.

The Browns leave this morning for what probably will be their last appearance in Griffith Stadium.

President George Marshall of the Washington Club has signed a contract for a 30-year lease on the new Washington Stadium, which is to be dedicated next September. The stadium also will be the home of the new Washington baseball team in the American League.

The Browns are scheduled to work out at Griffith Stadium this afternoon. They will return to Cleveland immediately after the game Sunday.

Cleveland will be seeing some familiar faces in the first meeting of the season with the Redskins.

Francis O'Brien, regular left tackle on offense for Washington, was working as a second string tackle with the Browns a year ago. Bob Khayat, who does the place kicking and plays some at guard for the Redskins, was on the same team with Bobby Franklin of the Browns at Mississippi last year.

Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland gave up O'Brien and Khayat to get Sam Baker, who now does the place kicking and punting for the Browns.

Abe Giron and Tim Temerario, two of the Washington coaches, have seen service with the Cleveland team. Giron was left guard for the Browns for six seasons before moving on to the Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears. He is the offensive line coach for the Redskins. Temerario, Washington's end coach and chief scout, served under Paul Brown in 1950.

Callihan Tops In Keg Tests

Bob Callihan reached top listing this week in Scratch Doubles competition at Circle D Lanes with series scores of 588 and 563.

Close behind was John Fiore's 525-516. On down the line it was Doug Glitt 525, Tom Eveland 524, Larry Dietrich 516, Mike Brown 505, Paul Chaffin 504 and Jim Hoover and John Dietrich 500.

Callihan's 250 and 214 were high single games. His 250 included nine strikes. Additional high games were Jim Hoover's 212 and 210, Eveland's 207 and Larry Dietrich's 204.

The six teams participating and members in the scratch matches include Ralph Ankrom and Bob Callihan of Jack's Tavern, John Fiore and Tom Eveland of Bowlers Tabulating, Paul Chaffin and Larry Dietrich of Heywood-Mercer Chevrolet, Charles Sabine and John Dietrich of Circle D, Jim Hoover and Doug Glitt of Hoover's Music and George Ramey and Mike Brown of Ramey Plasters.

Johnson is fifth in total offense with 920 yards, third in forward passing with 67 completions in 115 attempts and Atkins is fourth in scoring with nine touchdowns. (Central Press)

Columbus Man, Now 72, To Inherit Fund

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An elderly man missing for more than 20 years has been found through a newspaper advertisement and can now claim a $15,000 share of his brother's estate.

Judge Robert V. Bolger of orphans court ruled that Thomas A. Cassidy, 72, should receive his share. He said today it was the largest inheritance for a missing heir that he could recall.

Judge Bolger ordered the placing of advertisements.

The missing man was located in Columbus, Ohio.

His brother, John, 67, a disabled veteran of World War I, died July 10, 1959, in a veterans hospital at nearby Phoenixville. He left no will to dispose of his $49,000 estate.

Two survivors were listed, Thomas, "whereabouts unknown," and another brother, William, of Wyoming.

Each gets a third of the estate. The rest goes to the five children of another brother, Joseph, who died in 1943.

Thomas left his Philadelphia home soon after the end of World War I. Judge Bolger was told that Thomas wrote his wife one letter in 1937, asking her to send him money. He was in Columbus then, and mentioned going to Denver. He had not been heard from since. The ads were run in papers in both Columbus and Denver.

He has not yet returned to Philadelphia.

His wife, who brought up their two daughters, now married, lives here. Neither she nor either of the daughters has made a claim against Cassidy's inheritance.

Akron Cop's Son Arrested In Extortion

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Dennis F. Jacobs, 19-year-old son of an Akron detective, was arrested on an extortion charge by FBI agents Thursday night. They said he threatened the life of an automobile dealer if he did not get $800.

Edward E. Hargett, special agent in charge of the FBI at Cleveland, said Jacobs was nabbed as he got into a car after picking up a dummy package supposedly containing the money. He had been seen minutes before waiting behind a nearby church for the package to be placed under a street mailbox in suburban Silver Lake.

Hargett said Jacobs mailed an anonymous letter to Mrs. James Kemp, 50, of Silver Lake Tuesday, threatening her husband's life unless she gave him $800. The letter instructed Mrs. Kemp to put the money in a manila envelope and place it under the mailbox at 7:10 p.m. Thursday, the FBI agent said.

Kemp, 52, owner of an automobile sales agency here, called police and the FBI set the trap after several calls from Jacobs to the Kems confirmed the letter was not the work of a crank.

Kemp said he knew the youth from selling his father several cars. The father, Frank Jacobs, has been an Akron policeman 20 years.

Broncs Open Up With 56-12 Win

The Ashville Broncos returned home last night with their biggest triumph of the season after defeating Jonathan Alder 56-12.

In addition to the teams' record win, Quarterback Jim Gregg set a new Darby Valley league record with a total of 12 pass interceptions.

The Ashville squad attempted 30 passes in last night's contest and completed five: JA attempted nine and completed one. The Broncs managed 14 first downs during the game, against JA's four.

Halfback Dick Noggle scored two TD's in the first half, one on a 26-yard sweep and the other on an 18-yard dash. Jim McCord tallied a second quarter touchdown with a blocked punt, bringing the half time score to 18-0.

THE third quarter count was boosted by Bill Crumley who went through a six-yard smash; Guard Jim Brown scored the second TD of the third quarter with a five-yard smash. Extra points were scored by Noggle on a pass from Gregg.

With a 36-0 lead Coach Russ Gregg gave the rest of the team a chance to show their gridiron skill. Sure enough, they did! Bob Kuhlwein scored on a pass from Jim Franks, 150 lb. Quarterback. Jim Brown broke through with a ten-yard run and Franks charged down the field for a 60-yard run. Extra points were made by Clemens and Ed Neal.

Don Wrightsall scored both Alder touchdowns in the last quarter with a ten-yard sweep and a three-yard smash.

Coach Gregg commended his entire team for a good ball game. "Dan Hollenback set up most of the scores with his inside running," Gregg said, "but the whole team worked together and won the game."

Next week the Broncos meet Scioto Twp. on the Fairgrounds Field.

White House Aide's Brother Is Sentenced

METROPOLIS, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Walter J. Goodpaster, 47, faces a 199-year sentence for murder in the rifle slaying last Christmas day of a woman walking home from a round of taverns.

The Herrin, Ill. optometrist, brother-of-a White-House aide, must serve 66 years before he will be eligible for parole under Illinois law. His attorney was given 30 days to file a motion for a new trial.

A Massac County Circuit jury of 10 men and two women deliberated two hours and 40 minutes to reach the verdict Friday.

Goodpaster, who lost his composure only once in the 11-day trial, remained impassive as the verdict was read. His wife, son and secretary broke into tears.

The victim, Margaret Strunk, 52, mother of 12 children, was making her way home with the man she lived with, Bernard Dobraski Jr., 33, when the shooting occurred near Goodpaster's rural Carterville home.

Dobraski testified Goodpaster became enraged because he threw rocks at the optometrist's watch dog, then pursued them and shot Mrs. Strunk with a rifle and Dobraski in the head with a pistol. Goodpaster denied the shootings but admitted scuffling with Dobraski. Goodpaster is the brother of Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary.

Another Parley Set On Fifth Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another try will be made today to resolve the debate about a debate.

Representatives of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, wrangling over a proposed fifth television debate, will make the attempt to clear the way.

The representatives—J. Leonard Reinsch for Kennedy and Fred C. Scribner for Nixon — spent much of Friday accusing each other of blocking the way.

As Reinsch and Scribner meet, a kind of deadline will hang over their efforts. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for president, has telegraphed Nixon, the Republican candidate, to give a final answer before tonight.

The wrangling has focused on the conditions—that the debate be limited to Cuba and that the candidates for vice president take part.

Broncs Open Up With 56-12 Win

The Ashville Broncos returned home last night with their biggest triumph of the season after defeating Jonathan Alder 56-12.

In addition to the teams' record win, Quarterback Jim Gregg set a new Darby Valley league record with a total of 12 pass interceptions.

The Ashville squad attempted 10 passes in last night's contest and completed five: JA attempted nine and completed one. The Broncs managed 14 first downs during the game, against JA's four.

Halfback Dick Noggle scored two TD's in the first half, one on a 26-yard sweep and the other on an 18-yard dash. Jim McCord tallied a second quarter touchdown with a blocked punt, bringing the half time score to 18-0.

THE third quarter count was boosted by Bill Crumley who went through a six-yard smash; Guard Jim Brown scored the second TD of the third quarter with a five-yard smash. Extra points were scored by Noggle on a pass from Gregg.

With a 36-0 lead Coach Russ Gregg gave the rest of the team a chance to show their gridiron skill. Sure enough, they did! Bob Kuhlwein scored on a pass from Jim Franks, 150 lb. Quarterback. Jim Brown broke through with a ten-yard run and Franks charged down the field for a 60-yard run. Extra points were made by Clemens and Ed Neal.

Don Wrightsell scored both Alder touchdowns in the last quarter with a ten-yard sweep and a three-yard smash.

Coach Gregg commended his entire team for a good ball game. "Dan Hollenback set up most of the scores with his inside running," Gregg said, "but the whole team worked together and won the game."

Next week the Broncos meet Scioto Twp. on the Fairgrounds Field.
